Dear LCV Members,

Now is the time of the year to spend with friends and family, enjoying good meals and conversation and exchanging gifts. Whether you’re visiting with those you love or sailing onboard with us, we have a few presents for you in the form of special announcements.

To start, the 2018 voyages are now available to view and book. We also have announced the first-ever Azamara Club Cruises® World Journey, which will be available to reserve on 1 December 2015. And last, but certainly not least, there is a new benefit for being a member of Le Club Voyage – the Refer and Receive program. If you love us, share that love with friends who have never sailed with us and you’ll earn Future Cruise Credits. You can learn more about these announcements on pages 2, 3, and 15.

If you will be onboard over the holidays, then you can look forward to festive decorations, special meals, and celebrations, plus a few surprises. Until next time, I wish you happy holidays and a happy new year.

I recently returned from a trip to New Zealand, and I cannot encourage you all enough to visit. New Zealand is a truly remarkable country with natural wonder. One of the last landmasses on earth to be settled, it is similar in size to Colorado or Iceland. Two main islands, the North Island and the South Island, comprise most of the country. There are many smaller islands, including Stewart Island, that complete the pieces of the country’s puzzle.

The North Island, or in Maori, Te Ika-a-Maui, and the South Island, or Te Waipounamu, are home to many natural wonders. Both islands have mountain ranges, while North Island’s is punctuated by a highly active volcanic plateau and New Zealand’s largest lake, Lake Taupo. South Island is dominated by the Southern Alps, with the tallest peak being Mount Cook at 12,218 feet (3,724 meters). Over 3,000 glaciers fill the valleys between the mountains on South Island as they lead to the southwestern corner and a region called Fiordland. This mostly uninhabited area features beautiful fiords every bit as phenomenal as the ones Norway is famous for.

New Zealand’s population is roughly 4.4 million, with 3.5 million living on the North Island and 25% of the total population living in Auckland. The Sky Tower in Auckland is among the tallest man-made structures in the southern hemisphere at 1,076 feet (328 meters). If you visit the 53rd level of the tower, there are three activities awaiting you. The first option is to walk around the exterior of the building, the second is to enjoy a lovely meal with 360° views at the Orbit restaurant located in the tower, and the third is to, considering New Zealand is the birthplace of organized bungee jumping, jump off it. Despite being the most populous city and having the international airport, Auckland is not the capital of New Zealand. This honor belongs to Wellington, which is in the southern region of North Island.

The two islands are almost exact opposites in climate. While both islands are temperate in the areas where they are closer together, the North Island becomes subtropical as you travel north, and the South Island becomes subantarctic the farther south you explore. Don’t let the cold keep you away from the southern islands, though; many of them are UNESCO World Heritage Sites.

The economy was once almost entirely driven by wool production. However, as global wool prices have dropped, it has shifted to dairy and wine. New Zealand makes some of the finest wine in the world, but unfortunately for the rest of the world, most of it stays in the country. The outstanding Cabernets, Pinot Noirs, and Sauvignon Blancs are well worth the trip.

Whether you are looking for an active holiday full of sightseeing and bungee jumping or a relaxing one drinking excellent wine and admiring the pristine landscapes, New Zealand offers something for everyone. And it may come as no surprise, but the best way to visit is by ship. It would take at least ten flights to cover the same terrain as you would on one voyage. Not to mention all the time you save by not checking in and out of hotels and airlines. Instead, take that time to see the sights and enjoy yourself.

New Zealand is beautiful, and should be experienced rather than just visited.

Sincerely,

Larry Pimentel
Azamara Club Cruises President & CEO

Visit me on social media to see photos of my recent trip to New Zealand.
Great things come in small packages, which sums up New Zealand quite nicely. The idyllic country has so much to offer, by the end of your voyage you’ll be thinking about what to do on your next visit. At least that’s the effect New Zealand had on me. Find out how much of New Zealand you can experience on one of these voyages, then start thinking about round two.

Check out a few of our favorite photos from recent guests. Keep tagging #Azamara and #LoveTravel to share them with us.

The Arabian Gulf is an area of the world not traveled very often, and we would like to change that. Rich in history and culture, the Arabian Gulf is filled with must-experience destinations. Of the many reasons why a visit is necessary, these are our favorites.

1. VISIT UNESCO WORLD HERITAGE SITES WITH OUR EXPERIENCED TOUR GUIDES
Visit sites recognized for their architectural, historic, cultural, and natural significance. Our expert guides will provide all the information behind each location’s importance.

2. EXPLORE TRADITIONS AND CULTURE
The Arabian Gulf has been occupied by many different empires throughout history. This has resulted in countries and regions with many unique traditions and culture found nowhere else in the world.

3. SPECIALLY CURATED AZAMAZING EVENINGS™
Immerse yourself in a piece of local life with our AzAmazing Evenings™, designed specifically to give you an experience no other cruise line can offer.

4. FOOD
Food from this region is often tremendously flavourful and aromatic. The use of spices such as cumin, nutmeg, turmeric, and caraway results in strong flavours specific to the region.

5. SHOPPING
Most of the larger cities in the Arabian Gulf will have a shopping mall or two, but a true shopping experience requires a visit to the local bazaars. Bargain with merchants for remarkable goods at prices lower than anywhere else.

To experience our favourite things and find a few of your own, reserve a place on the 2016 LCV Voyage and get ready for all the Arabian Gulf has to offer. Visit AzamaraClubCruises.com/2016LCVVoyage for more details.
In early 2016, both of our award-winning ships will undergo major bow to stern renovations designed to provide guests with the ultimate destination-immersive holiday experience. To mark the arrival of our newly reimagined ships, we’re offering free direct flights (for London departures) on a selection of 7 to 14 night European voyages. Places are limited, so book early to avoid missing out.

EXPERIENCED AT THE AZAMARA STANDARD OF EXCELLENCE, a voyage to the rugged beauty of Australia and its neighbours is more than just a far away journey—it’s beyond all you imagined.
WHERE ARE YOU FROM?
From Tysse, on the island of Osterøy an hour north of Bergen, Norway.

WHAT’S YOUR FAVOURITE CHILDHOOD MEMORY?
Being allowed in the wheelhouse on the local ferries to and from the island of Osterøy, and going on boat trips on my uncle’s boat.

WHEN DID YOU DECIDE YOU WANTED TO BE A CAPTAIN?
I decided at the age of 5 that I wanted to become a captain, not necessarily a cruise ship but some sort of ocean-going ship.

CAN YOU TELL US A LITTLE BIT ABOUT YOUR BACKGROUND?
I went to sea for the very first time in June of 1983 as a deckhand on a tanker. I spent some time on tankers until joining the Norwegian Navy in 1986 to do my service time of 15 months. While in the Navy I obtained my Coastal Skipper License as well as my Truck Driver’s License. During the evenings and weekends, I drove dump trucks on road construction and tunnel projects. I also worked as a skipper on a local ferry during the summer of ’87 and then on weekends and holidays while attending the Merchant Marine Academy.

In the fall of 1989, I signed on my first cruise ship as a Second Officer. I did cruise ships for almost two years before going back to school again. After graduating, I worked on ferries for a while before getting a job with a tanker company and did shuttle tankers in the North Sea for over three years. I simply got tired of the North Sea and the rough winter storms, and since 1996 I have been permanently on a cruise ship.

WHAT ARE YOU MOST PROUD OF IN YOUR CAREER? YOUR PERSONAL LIFE?
Being promoted to Captain, and marrying Tonya; she’s my soulmate and best friend.

WHY WERE YOU INTERESTED IN COMING TO AZAMARA CLUB CRUISES?
Knowing Larry Pimentel and some of the senior management from other companies, it was an easy decision when I got the offer. I love working with Larry and the Team in Miami. In my role as Captain, together with the Shipboard Management, Miami is giving us a lot of freedom in the day-to-day operation. This makes the job even more interesting and rewarding, and as a result, hopefully our guests are noticing the difference.

WHERE ARE YOUR FAVOURITE DESTINATIONS YOU’VE TRAVELLED TO?
Any cruise that includes the Amalfi Coast, Venice, and down the Dalmatian Coast, including Kotor Montenegro, Hong Kong to Singapore, the Baltic and of course my own backyard, the Norwegian Fjords.

WHAT INSPIRES YOU?
Authentic people with an interesting life story like Henry Ochsner (age 92), a World War II vet I met on one of our cruises. We keep in touch and talk regularly.
